

LUKE W. DEITZ, MD

ANNOUNCING LUKE W. DEITZ, MD
ASSOCIATE TO KENNETH W. WRIGHT, MD

We are proud to announce that Dr. Luke Deitz, a specialist in Pediatric Ophthalmology and Adult Strabismus, will be joining Dr. Kenneth Wright and The Wright Eye Center.

Dr. Deitz received his fellowship training in pediatric ophthalmology and adult strabismus at the Jules Stein Eye Institute at UCLA. Dr. Deitz specializes in both the medical and surgical management of pediatric eye conditions, as well as adult strabismus. He adds a wealth of knowledge and innovation to the The Wright Eye Center, a leader in the care and treatment of pediatric eye disease and adult strabismus for over thirty years.

Dr. Deitz draws on his tight-knit family upbringing and small-town roots in providing warm, compassionate care. His patients, both young and not-so-young, have always appreciated and often commented on his bedside manner and his rapport with children. Dr. Deitz is extremely excited to be joining The Wright Eye Center and The Wright Foundation. He shares in the mission of continuing forward strides in the arenas of clinical research, the education of pediatricians and future pediatric ophthalmologists here and abroad, and world-class patient care, including assuming the responsibilities of the Foundation's special needs clinic.

Please join us in welcoming Dr. Luke Deitz to The Wright Eye Center and The Wright Foundation.

Education

- Bachelor of Arts, Johns Hopkins University
- Medical Degree, Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine
- Ophthalmology Residency, University of Alabama at Birmingham
- Pediatric Ophthalmology & Adult Strabismus Fellowship, University of California, Los Angeles

How to Refer

To schedule an appointment, or for additional information, please call 310.652.6420 or visit wrighteyecare.com